

ActionPOV is a cutting edge action-oriented film and video production company, designed to capture, package and present viewers with the ultimate in stunt and extreme action films, television, videos, special events, live broadcasting/webcasting and world media coverage, both by the traditional entertainment venues we're all accustomed to as well as the Internet. With the help of our specially designed Point-Of-View cameras, wireless transmission systems, innovative camera placement and a vast collection of on-camera action-oriented hosts, spokesmodels, crew and performers, we create, film and showcase some of the most out-of-control stunts and action entertainment that's ever been offered.

ActionPOV has hand-picked a stellar collection of top-notch and award-winning professionals, ranging from the brightest and boldest of extreme sports athletes, sports associations, studios and networks, to producers, directors, stuntpeople, cinematographers, editors and event specialists necessary to plan, shoot, package and market any size project. And when it comes to delivering stunning, high quality productions and action events, we have quickly become the requested filming and video crew due to our unconventional methods and signature techniques. We cover any venues like no other crew.

Our goal is to bring new and never-before-seen experiences to action enthusiasts by creating the most exciting, visually stunning, virtually real and Live-as-it-Happens, Point-of-View action and adventure entertainment a person can possibly experience short of performing the action themselves. By merging the insatiable hunger for action-oriented entertainment by film, television and Internet-based viewers; coupled with Line-of-Sight camera-wearing, extreme action performers, stunt professionals, world travelers, adventurers, actors and crewmembers, we provide viewers with breath-taking live encounters that they will see, feel and experience firsthand.

Listed below are some of the services we provide from which we believe you and your company can benefit:

- Full service in-studio and on-location film, video and HD production, utilizing our state-of-the-art, hand-held, hard-wired and wireless camera systems to get shots like no other crew. By using our seasoned crew of producers, directors, cinematographers, stunt coordinators, FX techs, action competitors and dynamic show hosts, we bring together, capture and present the action in a way that only big budget motion picture, TV and commercial professionals can provide, but at the same time, within a budget you, your company and your target audience can afford.
- Full service film, video and HD post-production, using our vast collection of post facilities and Emmy-winning editing personnel, packaging and marketing with some of the best graphic designers available and distribution services from our international network of media brokers.
- Full service live network satellite broadcasting using our fully-equipped, state-of-the-art satellite trucks and on-site technicians to broadcast, webcast or V-Cast any production or event, from and to anywhere in the world.
- Event planning, production and promotions. ActionPOV Productions is able to plan, produce and promote spectacular events, from simple small-budget gatherings, to multi-million dollar media shows set for Film and TV broadcast or distribution worldwide.

ActionPOV also produces and hosts its own multi-million dollar event series called, "The Ozark Mountain Adventure Games" where we've mixed high octane extreme off-roading with extreme action sports on a grand scale which entertains extreme action enthusiasts from all over the country.

- Motion picture, TV and live event stunt coordination, pooling from the best of the best in film and TV stuntpeople and coordinators from the feature film industry. ActionPOV has within its group, a vast network of experienced, hand-chosen Screen Actors Guild stunt professionals who make up the teams of stuntpeople and extreme action sports performers available for any production or event. We deliver the biggest bang for the buck, whether your budget is small or large.
- Post-event "Take Home" DVDs. Now spectators can take home a copy of the production or event they've just seen before the gates to the auditorium close, utilizing our specially-designed hard-wired and wireless recording equipment, we professionally capture, render, post and distribute a DVD of the event so that they can take home with them the memories of the event.
- Motion picture and TV stunt equipment acquisition, distribution and rental. Whether you're in the mountains of Tibet and discover that you need some specialized stunt equipment, located a continent away, or just across town, you'll be able to fill out a simple preprinted, mailable, faxable, downloadable, or Internet processed form, provided by ActionPOV. Connect to the ActionPOV website, locate our easy-to-find Stunt Shop and send the order in to the ActionPOV store for immediate processing.
- Royalty-free stock footage and photo archive clearinghouse services, offering some of the most dramatic action scenes and images from the world of action and extreme sports, motor sports, stunts and extreme life ever captured. And for the tamer side of life, we provide a powerful and dramatic view of human nature, breathtaking landscapes and some of the most haunting infrared black and white photography ever seen.
